

Cable T.V. should have a base price for each channel they have to offer and users should have to pay only for channels they would like to see and use.